This is our reason for being, the core value of our brand.

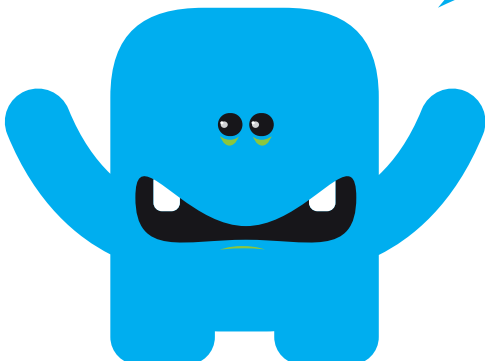

Those who know how to play, know how to take care.

A syringe coating in the shape of a small alligator, A saliva ejector with tips of colored animals. How come no one thought of this before?

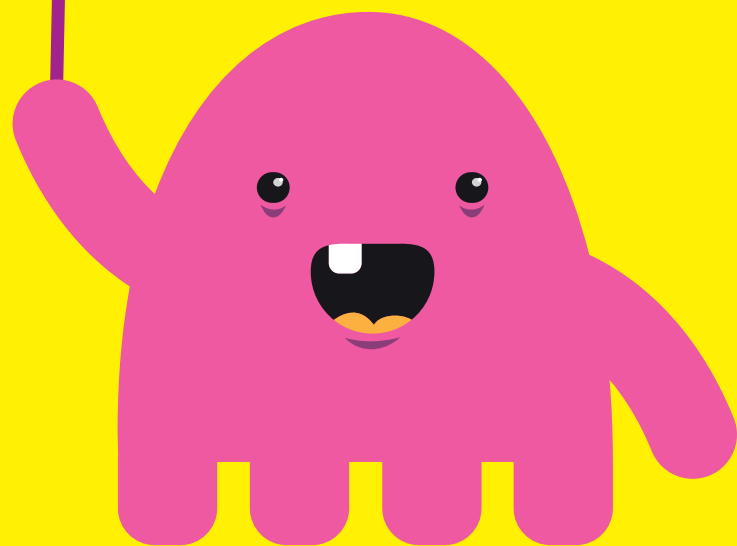

Angelus did. And it created the Angie line, friendly even in the name.

They are unique products in the market, with different formats, vibrating, cheerful colors and great imagination for you to treat children's teeth in the way they like best: playing. Experiment, interact, play.

Angie is pure creativity.
